

Keeper in the Classroom

Introduced in the fall of 2007, Keeper in the Classroom has become one the most popular educational outreach programs offered by the Ponce de Leon Inlet Lighthouse Preservation Association. Provided free of charge to all Volusia County schools, Keeper in the Classroom brings the Lighthouse to students who would otherwise be unable to experience the exciting story of the historic Light Station.

Developed by the Association in response to ongoing budgetary restrictions that would limit school visits to the Light Station, Keeper in the Classroom provides local educators with a unique alternative to off-site field trips. As with all of the educational outreach programs offered by the Preservation Association, Keeper in the Classroom is provided to all Volusia County school groups free of charge.

Each Keeper in the Classroom presentation includes:

- Interactive Lecture by "The Old Lighthouse Keeper"
- 20-Minute Ponce Inlet Light Station Video Presentation
- Turn-of-the-Century Artifact Workshop
- Interactive Student Activities and Crafts (with advance notice)

Presented by staff and volunteers dressed in historic keepers' uniforms, each Keeper in the Classroom presentation can be adapted according to grade level and group size. Program length can be adjusted according to individual teacher needs.
